Westcliff University Senate Overview

Mission Statement

The Westcliff University Faculty Senate's mission is to lead faculty not only in fulfilling their responsibilities in the shared governance and policies of the university but also to advocate for the growth of scholarship, learning, teaching, research, service, and respect for diversity, equity, and inclusion by acting as a collective and independent voice that serves as a liaison between faculty and stakeholders.

Vision Statement

The Faculty Senate aspires to be seen by Westcliff University members and community stakeholders as a valued collaborator in the fulfillment of the university's vision to become a well-respected and cutting-edge higher education institution worldwide. By continuing to exercise its vested authority to encourage faculty members to inspire, empower, and develop students' personal and professional competencies, the performance of the Faculty Senate aims at being recognized as highly essential to the daily endeavors of faculty and to university decisions that affect academic affairs in general.

History

In 2016, the Westcliff University Faculty Senate held its first meeting and began to regularly operate with one ad hoc executive committee and four standing committees: Academic Standards, Policies, and Procedures Committee, Curriculum Committee, Faculty Affairs Committee, and Performance Assessment Committee. At that time, all faculty, regardless of rank, were considered senators. In 2019, the Faculty Senate added a fifth committee, the Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Committee and, later that same year, held its second officer election. In 2020, the Faculty Senate voted to convert from an open Faculty Senate membership structure to, instead, a limited Faculty Senate membership structure. The new structure move was made in an effort to preserve sustainability and scalability as the institution continued to grow. The Faculty Senate also welcomed members of the College of Technology and Engineering and the College of Law to serve on the five standing committees. In 2021, the Constitution and Bylaws were changed to accommodate any new college without the need for amendment. In 2021, the name of the Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Committee was changed to the Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee.

Senate Overview

The Faculty Senate is made up of three Faculty Senate officers and five standing committees. Officer roles include that of president, vice president, and secretary. Officer terms are two-years long, and officers are eligible to serve a maximum of two terms.

Standing committees include:

- Academic Standards, Policies, and Procedures Committee
- Curriculum Committee
- Faculty Affairs Committee
- Performance Assessment Committee
- Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee

Each committee consists of one committee chair and one faculty representative from each college. Committee chairs and committee representative terms are for a period of one year, and committee chairs and representatives may serve a maximum of two terms.

The Faculty Senate President assumes the role of Immediate Past Faculty Senate President upon completion of service. The most recent election was held in August 2021. The next election will take place in August 2023.

Article I: Purpose and Authority

The name of this body shall be the Westcliff University Faculty Senate.

Section 2.

Subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees, the authority to establish, implement, and govern educational and academic policies of Westcliff University is vested in the university faculty, as defined by the Board of Trustees.

Section 3.

The Faculty Senate is an official university body for shared governance. It considers and makes recommendations concerning educational policies and other matters of university-wide importance. The Faculty Senate shall foster discussion and maintain adequate communication channels among students, staff, faculty, administrative officers, and the Board of Trustees on all matters affecting the welfare of the university or its constituents.

Article II: Faculty Senate Membership and Service

Section 1.

Each existing college shall have, at minimum, one participating Faculty Senator (hereto within referred to as "Senator"). Faculty members, regardless of their location (e.g., onsite or online) shall be counted in.

Section 2.

While all faculty in good standing are eligible to serve, preference will be given to those faculty desiring to serve within a Faculty Senate role who meet Tier 1, Tier 2, and Tier 3 criteria, in listed order. Criteria include:

TIER 1: Full-time faculty who have been with the institution for any amount of years and who have not exceeded more than the maximum term allotted for a Faculty Senate role.

TIER 2: Part-time faculty who have taught 4 classes at the institution and who have demonstrated high-quality work through special projects (non-teaching projects). Tier 2 faculty must be given a recommendation by at least one special project lead.

TIER 3: Part-time faculty who have taught 4 classes with the institution and who have demonstrated high-quality teaching. Tier 3 faculty must be recommended by their program chair and/or dean.

Section 3.

Faculty from each college of the university are eligible to serve on the Faculty Senate. Faculty from newly added colleges may begin service immediately following the official announcement of the new college by university leadership.

Section 4.

Terms of office shall begin on the first day of Session 1. The term of office of an elected senate officer shall be two years. Faculty Senate officers can be reelected for a maximum of one consecutive term. The term of office of an appointed standing committee chair and college representative shall be one year. Committee chairs and committee representatives cannot serve in the same role for more than one term but can serve in a different role within the same committee. A senator cannot serve on a standing committee for more than two consecutive terms. Senators cannot serve on more than one committee at a time.

Section 5.

All senators are expected to:

1. Attend all Faculty Senate meetings. If unable to attend the meeting, the senator must make an effort to find a competent substitute to act as her/his proxy at the meeting. To ensure an independent and democratic vote, current senators may not act as a proxy. Said proxy will have all rights and privileges accorded a regular senator during the meeting. The senator must provide notification of the substitution to the president and the secretary prior to the start of the meeting.
2. Prepare for Faculty Senate meetings, including reviewing the agenda and any relevant documents sent.

The term of a member under these circumstances shall commence immediately and shall be for the duration of the absence or unexpired term of the regularly elected member. If the remainder term is less than one year, this term will not count as a full term of officer service.

If a committee chair must vacate their seat, the Faculty Senate President will appoint a new committee chair and fill the role. The term of a member under these circumstances shall commence immediately and shall be for the duration of the absence or unexpired term of the regularly elected member. If the remainder term is less than six months, this term will not count as a full term of committee service.

If the remainder term is less than six months, this term will not count as a full term of committee service.

Section 7.

In the event a senator is removed, the president will inform the relevant college dean and fill the seat with another senator, ensuring representation from each college remains reflected within the committee.

The Faculty Senate and the various standing committees on which the faculty serve are the primary conduit for the essential joint effort of faculty and administration in the long-standing shared governance of Westcliff University. The chief academic officer and the Faculty Senate President facilitate communication between faculty and academic leadership, enabling continued and effective faculty participation in all aspects of the university community.

What are the responsibilities of Faculty Senators to their units and to the university?

Because the legislative powers of the general faculty are delegated to the Faculty Senate, and Senators are the elected representatives of their academic units to this legislative body, Senators (officers and committee chairs and representatives) are responsible for communicating with faculty in their respective colleges about all actions, pending and completed, of the Faculty Senate. Best practices for the Senator-college communications include reviewing the Faculty Senate agenda and meeting minutes with actions, sharing announcements, and serving as a liaison between faculty and Faculty Senate.

Who determines the schedule of meetings for the Faculty Senate and its committees?

Four regular meetings of the Faculty Senate are held annually in the months of January, April, July, and October. The Faculty Senate President announces the exact day and time of the meetings one year in advance. Meeting attendees include Faculty Senate officers and Faculty Senate committee members. In an exceptional situation in which the regular procedures for scheduling a meeting are clearly inadequate and would cause undue delay, the Faculty Senate President has the right to call a special session. A notice stating the purpose of any special session shall be distributed to the members of the Faculty Senate and the general faculty at least twenty-four hours prior to the meeting.

How does the Faculty Senate communicate with the faculty at large?

While not an invitation to attend, the general faculty is informed of the time, place, and agenda of all meetings held by the Faculty Senate. Each member of the general faculty receives a copy of the agenda via email for each meeting of the Faculty Senate at least one week before the date of the meeting. In addition, all Faculty Senate meeting agendas and minutes are posted online on the Faculty Senate Webpage.

Who sets the meeting agenda?

The Faculty Senate shall be free to establish its own agenda, though it is the responsibility of the Executive Committee to curate them. The president has the discretion to make last minute adjustments to the agenda regarding urgent matters.

What are the duties of the Faculty Senate Officers? How long do they serve?

All faculty officers are elected for two year terms, with the ability for re-election once. The Faculty Senate President shall preside at all regular and special Faculty Senate meetings. He or she is empowered to call special meetings when deemed necessary. The president is an ex-officio member of all academic committees and various administrative committees. The president may delegate to the vice president, or an appointed representative, his or her seat on any of the academic or various administrative committees. They shall appoint persons to fill unexpired terms on standing committees. The president is responsible for representing the faculty at Board of Trustee meetings. For the length of their term as president, the Faculty Senate President will serve as described in the bylaws.

The vice president shall perform all of the duties of the president in either the absence or incapacity of the president. The vice president of the Faculty Senate shall serve, at the request of the president, as the president's representative on standing committee meetings. The vice president shall succeed to the office of president in the event that office should become vacant during the term of the incumbent.

The secretary shall keep accurate minutes of all regular and special meetings, ensure distribution of copies of the minutes within seven days after a held meeting to all members of the general faculty, keep accurate record of membership and attendance of the Faculty Senate, inform president should a seat become vacant, and serve, at the request of the president, as the president's representative at standing committee meetings, as well as perform such other appropriate duties as directed by the Faculty Senate President.

How are speaking rights granted?

Members of all committees reporting to the Faculty Senate are automatically granted speaking privileges at regular and special meetings. Visitors may not participate in Faculty Senate discussions or business except by advance invitation of the Faculty Senate. Such an invitation will be announced to the Senators prior to the meeting. Those wishing to address an issue and speak to the Faculty Senate should contact the president via email at least 14 days prior to the meeting and make an official request.

Who can ask questions during the question period in Faculty Senate meetings? To whom can questions be addressed?

Faculty senators and ex-officio members may ask questions during the question period. Questions may be addressed to anyone who has given a report to the Faculty Senate, Faculty Senate officers, ex-officio members (including administrators) in attendance, or individuals who have been granted speaking privileges.

How does a senator make a motion?

1. A Senator asks for the floor by using the Zoom video conference Chat feature or by clicking the Raise Hand feature.
2. The president will recognize the senator by name.
3. After receiving formal recognition, the member is then said to “have the floor.”
4. Once recognized, the senator states their name and academic unit.
5. Addressing the president, the senator introduces a motion in the form of “I move that...” followed by the statement of the motion.
6. Another member seconds the motion. Without recognition from the presiding official, a member may say, “I second the motion.” If the motion is not seconded, it “dies for lack of a second.”

How do I submit an item to a standing committee that may require a full Faculty Senate vote?

Each item that requires a full Faculty Senate vote must be emailed directly to the corresponding committee chair, with the Faculty Senate President in copy. The standing committee is allotted seven days to make a recommendation which they will then forward on to the Faculty Senate President with the request for a full Faculty Senate vote. Upon receipt from the president, the item will be set for a vote at the next regularly scheduled Faculty Senate meeting. If the item must be voted upon prior to the next scheduled meeting, the president will email the item to the full Faculty Senate for review and electronic vote (for additional information on email voting procedures see Article V, Section 7).
