Philosophy

The MBA is widely recognized as the world's most valuable business qualification, representing many of the qualities sought in today's executives: intelligence, innovation, and determination.

The Master of Business Administration curriculum offers a diverse and engaging range of courses designed to prepare students for leadership in a dynamic business environment. The program's primary objectives are to inspire a commitment to lifelong learning; develop strong analytical, conceptual, and quantitative skills; build confidence and a positive professional mindset; and cultivate the ability to lead and collaborate effectively in team settings. In addition, the MBA emphasizes ethical decision-making and a deep sense of responsibility in business practice.

Overview

The Westcliff University MBA program, provided by the Presidential Graduate School (PGS), is tailored to meet the needs of both working professionals and full-time students seeking practical, career-focused learning within a cohort of experienced peers. This two-year, 60-credit program meets the rigorous academic standards of full-time MBA programs offered by leading international universities.

What sets the Westcliff MBA apart is its alignment with global educational standards and its emphasis on integrating both local and international perspectives on business and management. The curriculum prepares graduates to solve real-world challenges across a wide range of disciplines, including business and management, entrepreneurship, human resources, financial management, strategic marketing, organizational leadership, supply chain management, and business strategy—equipping them to succeed in both domestic and global markets.

Students benefit from instruction by a distinguished faculty with extensive industry experience, gaining practical insights that translate directly to the workplace. Graduates of the Presidential Graduate School MBA program emerge with enhanced career prospects, expanded leadership opportunities, and the skills needed for continued personal and professional growth.
